LEGALITIES

We will advise you on how to complete your legal formalities to marry, which will normally be separate from your celebrant led wedding ceremony.

After all, you don't expect to receive the birth certificate the day a baby is born, or a death certificate at the funeral. So why not separate out your legal marriage from your lovely personal wedding ceremony?

Many couples say by doing it this way they don't have the stress of completing legalities on the day and feel much more relaxed on their wedding day.
